DETAILED ACTION

Rejections maintained

1. Claims 25-37 are rejected under 35 USC 103(a) as being unpatentable over Beal in view of Cole for reasons of record in paper no. 9, paragraph-3, mailed on May 6, 2003.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments filed September 8, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that Beal and Cole fails to teach that the indicia is directed to communicating a message to the user related to at least one of motivating the user, entertaining the user, educating the user and inspiring the user. This not deemed to be convincing because the liner of Cole is provided with, and as acknowledged the applicant in page-10 of amendment filed on 09/08/2003, printed indicia such as logo, decorative design, instruction for use, etc., the decorative design and/or the logo is interpreted as communicating motivating, entertaining, educating or inspiring message to the user. This is because the broadest possible reasonable meaning is applied to the printed indicia. Applicant should note that a decorative design would provide for motivating and entertaining the user. While a logo would inspire its use by the user.

Applicant also argues that it appears that the examiner did not give any patentable weight to the claimed limitations regarding the indicia. This is not found to be persuasive because, as per the last office action, patentable weight has been given to the printed indicia and the specific message is given its broadest reasonable interpretation and the limitations have been found to be obvious over the applier prior art.

These grounds of explanations apply not only to claims 25-37, but also apply a fortiori to the newly submitted claims 38-52.

Thus, in the absence of any evidence to the contrary, it remains the examiner's position that the instant claimed invention would have been obvious over the prior art of record discussed above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 38-52 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Beal in view of Cole.

Beal relates to a laminated structure (10) which is a feminine care absorbent product. The product structure comprises a body (16) having a peripheral edge, a first side, a second opposite side, an adhesive attachment means (36) and release paper (46) covering the adhesive. A plurality of laminated structure can be provided in a package or container with instructions provided thereon (col. 2, lines 22-37). However,

Art Unit: 1772

Beal fails to teach that release paper has printed indicia thereon. Cole discloses a laminated adhesive structure, including release paper which covers the unprotected adhesive. The outer side of the release paper is provided with indicia such as logo, decorative design, instructions, etc. to promote and assist in the use of the product. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to utilize Cole's teaching of using printed indicia on the release paper in the invention of Beal to promote the product in that it provides for inspiration to use the product, entertains and motivates the user to use the product, etc.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

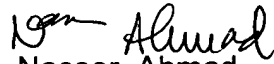

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
